

CHRISTOPHER NICHOLAS BANGS

BIOGRAPHY

Christopher Nicholas Bangs is a film and TV composer based in the UK who first established himself as a feature film composer in 2011 with his contemporary score for JUNKHEARTS, mixing urgent scratchy synth textures with washes of guitar feedback and live concert harp. The film went on to win awards at both the BFI London Film Festival and the Moscow International Film Festival.

His work since then spans many genres, showing off his versatility as an artist. His feature scores include documentary BATTLE OF THE SEXES, thriller PANIC, road-trip comedy HIGHLY FUNCTIONAL --for which he also co-wrote and produced original songs-- and the award-winning musical feature BEEN SO LONG. In the realm of television, his scores include the BBC4 series SOON GONE: A WINDRUSH CHRONICLE, which won a Screen Nation Award, and the 2022 Apple TV+ mini-series WECRASHED.
